

WOMEN'S HEALTH DIGEST

The official e-newsletter of the Women's Health Collaborative

MEET THE TEAM

Since 2022, DR. ROBERTA KLINE was one of the founding members of the Integrative Pain Healers Alliance- offering her boundless knowledge in functional medicine and clinical science to the development of women's health related programs. Today, this program evolved into an independent national network where Dr. Kline navigated this professional association as the Director of Educational Programs- of what is now known as the Women's Health Collaborative.

Dr. Kline is an OBGYN physician, an award-winning author, an educational advocate and an inspirational speaker for the professional community. She is also a clinical advisor in integrative medicine and functional genomics to many health organizations. Dr. Kline holds a combined mission to upgrade how we approach health and deliver healthcare through education, globalized communication, research, and advocacy.

Highly skilled in translating scientific research into understandable clinical and public educational programs, Dr. Kline is often called professionally to lead editorial teams of health/medical publications. She develops and teaches CME programs, consults on gene expression project designs, and leads collaborative projects designed to advance the direction of women's health.

In 2023, Dr. Kline formed an educational partnership called Hummingbird Health Press, a production company creating educational videos, newsletters, online seminars and public health announcements. Her latest project is a video series of health showcases called "BALANCE & LONGEVITY" distributed through the Women's Health Digest & AngioMedia. In the fall of 2024, she is scheduled to launch a mini-podcast presenting "HEALTH PROS 3.0" - an exploratory mentorship project for health professionals.

Dr. Kline continues to exercise her talents as a leading clinical research advisor for IHRC (the Integrative Health Research Center), assembling complex research and metadata profiling for clinical validation projects. She is one of the leading IHRC team members of the Breast Cancer Research Coalition which also includes Dr. Robert Bard, Dr. Noelle Cutter and Dr. Leslie Valle-Montoya.

One of her latest public achievements is speaking at the 15th Annual Endometriosis Foundation of America Patient Symposium- where Dr. Kline received resounding recognition for her presentation called "The Role of Genomics & Epigenetics in Endometriosis". This compelling showcase was framed around her specialized study on genomics, while stylishly delivering core empowerment to her audiences with integrative health and lifestyle strategies. Videos of her educational program continue to attract new audiences in the clinical and patient communities, alongside her educational supplement- The 2024 Endo Resource Guide.

Media Contact: editor.prevention101@gmail.com / 516-522-0777